Detectives Ponder Possible Murder Link

Detectives from two North County police departments, Pacifica and Daly City, attended briefings in Santa Cruz County Tuesday concerning investigation into the murder of two women whose bodies were found there last week.

Since January of this year, North San Mateo County has been the scene of five murders — all involving young, attractive women.

It was expected Pacifica Sgt. Robert Robinson and Daly City Det. Jim Mandiara will compare notes with Santa Cruz County Sheriff Al Noren on the murders in the hope some light can be shed on the local slayings.

The bodies of Mary Gorman, 21, daughter of a prominent Oregon physician, and Mrs. Vicki Bezore, 31, wife of a Santa Cruz music critic, were found partially buried near the entrance to Henry Cowall State Park by two unidentified hikers last week.

Both women disappeared June 25 after driving away from a local inn following a minor disagreement with their dinner companions, it was learned.

Miss Gorman had been accompanied to the dinner by a friend, Santa Cruz businessman Harry McKussick, and Mrs. Bezore was accompanied by her husband, Buzz, it was reported.

Miss Gorman's bloodstained car was found some eight miles from where the bodies eventually were found. Both bodies were naked and located about 75 feet off the roadway.

So greatly decomposed were the bodies that it may never be known if either victim was raped, Noren said.

The sheriff has called upon Department of Justice Investigator Steve McJunkin, and Roger Hegler, a noted forensic medicine expert from San Francisco State University, to aid in the investigation.

A pocketknife was found near the scene, but the sheriff, who has placed a tight lid on information surrounding the murders, refused to comment on its validity in the case.

The latest double murder brings to three the number of homicides involving young and attractive women in Santa Cruz in recent weeks.

On May 28, the stabbed and partially clad body of Karen Percifield, 26, was found at the entrance to another county park.

To date, Sheriff Noren will say only that both cases involved the murder of young women and the bodies were disposed of "by routine methods used by people who kill."

What has caused interest in the Santa Cruz cases by San Mateo County investigators is the fact that they have not heard from "our killer" for several weeks, while neighboring Santa Cruz — scene of several mass murder cases in recent years — has had a sudden surge of women murdered, one investigator explained.

Daly City Det. John Kirby said, "While we have no positive links to the (Santa Cruz) case, we want to meet with their investigators and compare our findings."

ANGRY CLASH

Jim Spelman and Rep. Leo Ryan hotly debate charges against the administration of Golden Gate National Cemetery. Spelman is the son of the ousted administrator.

Ryan vs. Spelman Sons

Angry Exchange at Hearing on Cemetery

By FRANK LaPIERRE

An angry exchange between the two sons of ousted Golden Gate Cemetery, Supt. John Spelman and Rep. Leo Ryan concluded a two-hour long hearing over deteriorating conditions at the San Bruno cemetery Monday.

Ryan had called the hearing in response to "numerous complaints my office has received in recent years" alleged poor maintenance practices at the national shrine.

Early this month, Spelman, Golden Gate's superintendent for the past several years, was removed as head of the cemetery and reassigned to a downtown San Francisco Veteran Administration office.

The shouting match was sparked when supporters of Spelman — his two sons and San Bruno Councilman Richard Griffith in particular — demanded to speak in his defense as to the "real reasons" the cemetery was in such deplorable condition with sunken graves, tire tracks across grave sites, chipped monuments, and lack of grass.

But Ryan insisted the hearing had been called for "informational purposes only" and was not a trial aimed at pinning the blame for the cemetery's condition on any person — especially Spelman.

While the condition of the cemetery came under criticism from all fronts — bereaved survivors, neighboring residents and even some high-ranking Veterans' Administration officials — Spelman was not singled out as the sole reason for these conditions.

Donald E. Ellis, Chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, 1205, Memorial Day services at the cemetery, and a 25-year resident of the area, said he has always received cooperation from Spelman.

While admitting the cemetery "is in deplorable condition," Ellis said it was not Spelman's fault.

"Someone is trying to make Mr. Spelman a scrape goat (sic) out here," Ellis said.

There was disagreement about why the cemetery was in poor condition.

Gordon Yule of the American Legion's 26th District, San Mateo County, said the causes included budget cuts in recent years and rejection of requests for equipment parts by Spelman's superiors.

Also, orders from superiors to reduce watering the cemetery and curtailment

Approval Is Seen of Broadmoor Bill Today

Gov. Edmund G. "Jerry" Brown is expected to sign legislation today which will allow Broadmoor residents to vote on increasing their tax rate.

The tax increase is needed to bail out the financially crippled police district.

If the measure fails at the ballot box in November, many Broadmoor residents predict neighboring Daly City will swoop down and gobble up the tiny enclave.

Proponents of the tax increase — not to exceed $1.50 per $100 of assessed valuation — say they simply want to be left alone to live as they have in the past.

However, in the past, Daly City has gradually gnawed away bits and pieces of Unincorporated Colma which the police and fire districts depended on for financial survival.

Monday, the Daly City City Council approved a pre-annexation zoning resolution for yet another area of Unincorporated Colma, one east of Junipero Serra Freeway.

The area is suited to commercial, in addition to residential uses, and contributes heavily toward subsidizing the police and fire district.

Don Fleming, head of Daly City's Dept. of Community Development, outlined the city's intentions if and when annexation occurs.

- Provide Unincorporated Colma with full municipal services consistent with levels throughout the city.
- Establish in-city garbage rates to the area to be annexed.
- Install additional street lights to provide a level of lighting consistent with other existing city areas.
- Install adequate and proper traffic control measures.
- Provide street and sidewalk improvements within the territory following annexation at Daly City's expense and without any cost to the residents of the territory being annexed by means of assessment.

Free Plastic Bags Offered In Broadmoor

The Broadmoor Property Owners Association announced today that it is providing free plastic garbage sacks for the duration of the Daly City scavenger strike.

Mrs. Margaret Fleischer, secretary of the homeowners' association, said the sacks would be available at the Broadmoor Police Protection District offices at 388 88th St.

Proof of Broadmoor tract residency is required.

Garbage Strike

No D.C. Settlement in Sight

With settlement of the 17-day-old Daly City garbage strike still up in the air, negotiators from both sides in the dispute were scheduled to sit down at the bargaining table yesterday at 2:30 p.m. in San Francisco.

Monday, Daly City Scavenger Co. representatives and negotiators for Local 350, Sanitary Truck Drivers and Helpers Union, discussed the current situation before Federal Mediator Tom A. Curdie.

A scheduled meeting between the scavengers, union and Daly City mayor pro-tempore Albert Teglia was cancelled when negotiators ran overtime in their San Francisco meeting.

Teglia said he was "satisfied that the disputing parties are meeting again."

It had been 13 days since either side had sat down to discuss their differences.

Wages, job security and other fringe benefits have still not been resolved, a spokesman for the scavenger company said.

The last scavenger strike three years ago lasted 17 days.

They Teach Losers to Win

By JANET REINKA

You've read about Tom and Mike and Bill in this newspaper before but you never knew it.

We described them down to their scars, their clothes, which way they went: so well, in fact, that you've had it up to here with these three and the ones like them that you don't even know.

We called them "suspect," so it's no wonder that only Tom and Mike and Bill recognized themselves as the ones continually "making good their escapes," "making their getaways on foot or in waiting cars," making themselves into cliches.

Something has taken Tom and Mike and Bill since then and wrenched them around. Three losers have learned how to win.

"This is how I used to look," said Tom Lee, plunking down from his wallet four mugshots from four North County cities. "Quite a difference, don't you think?"

Quite a difference from the young man jerked from his bed by a San Bruno policeman, the Oceana graduate with the numb face who robbed the Fox Skyline Theater "and a few other places I wasn't quite convicted of" to keep his habit going.

Quite a difference, too, for Mike Prince, 24, of Menlo Park, who used to leave his probation officer's office, planning to get loaded.

And quite a difference for Bill Inglis of San Mateo, in and out of jails in Mexico and the United States and cut off for 10 years from his family.

None of them can quite describe how Delancey Street Foundation turned them around, except in terms of how they have changed.

"I don't want to dwell on my past," Inglis said. "I always felt when I was using drugs that it would be my life. I came here 2½ years ago and I've made some friends for the first time in my life.

"I lead a relatively normal life. Delancey Street has given me unlimited educational opportunities. I just enjoy a clean existence without any drugs."

All three were given the choice of going to Delancey Street's offices at 795 8th Ave. in San Francisco or going to state prison. According to San Mateo County Judge Frank Piombo, many he sends to Delancey Street buckle the foundation's difficult, no-excuses regimen and ask to transfer to jail.

"It's tougher than jail," Piombo said. "They cooperate with us better than many agencies working with drug addicts. When one of the addicts uses drugs or leaves town, they let the probation authorities know right away. I don't know of any organization as successful as Delance y Street."

When Piombo probated Prince to Delancey Street a year ago, all that was running through his mind was finding "who's got it?" But Delancey Street would not be like the other rehabilitation programs he had been through.

During the 90-day "emigration period" the regimen is strict. Menial chores fill up the day, which starts at 5 a.m.

Newcomers are told that they have proven their inability to make good choices, so all decisions will be made for them. Three nights a week they have group "encounter" meetings with John Maher, the founder of Delancey Street and himself a former drug addict, and other counselors.

Emphasis is on making the newcomer start to feel responsible for his own actions, that whatever good he finds in life he must go out and get.

Misbehavior is not rewarded and the person's criminal career is not glamorized as his "rebellion" against society. After

DC Rock-Throwing Melee

It took 110 police officers from 17 peninsula jurisdictions more than an hour to disperse an angry bottle-tossing mob of rock fans at the Daly City Cow Palace Saturday night.

There were no injuries and police made no arrests during the incident which started shortly before 6 p.m.

Sgt. Terry Hanabeck said the clash was touched off when rock fans were unable to buy tickets at the box office. During the confusion, some persons holding valid tickets were also turned away, Hanabeck said.

The appearance of the reputedly hard drinking, hard rock "Z.Z. Top" was a complete sellout at the Cow Palace, which reportedly holds more than 12,000 persons for such performances.

At the outset of the riot, 20 Daly City police were called to the scene. The milling mob began throwing bottles, rocks and whatever else they could lay their hands on at police, Hanabeck said.

Those who were unable to buy tickets to the performance, along with a few gatecrashers, started tossing bottles and rocks at passing cars on Geneva Avenue about 5:45 p.m. police said.

When Daly City police failed to restore order and move the mob away from the turnstile area of the building, mutual aid plans were put into effect and police from throughout the Peninsula — from San Francisco to Hillsborough — were called to the scene.

As police units moved in on the crowd, they were met with a shower of rocks, bottles and cans, Hanabeck said.

By 9:40 p.m., the crowd was dispersed and order restored, except for an occasional rock thrower, it was reported.

In the wake of the mob, Geneva Avenue and Santos street were littered with debris, police said.

No-Hitter in Finale

Locals Win State DiMaggio Title

Special To The Post

SAN RAFAEL — After a full weekend of pressure baseball, Flying Goose of Daly City today reigns as the State Joe DiMaggio League champion.

Flying Goose blanked Benicia twice, 1-0 in nine innings and 4-0 on a combination no-hitter by Matt Scheffler and Ken Anders, here in Sunday's finals to complete an amazing string of six straight victories since a loss in its tournament opener Thursday.

On Saturday, Flying Goose shut out the Italian Club of Marin County 5-0 and then started a 2-1 triumph over Long Beach that was completed Sunday morning after being suspended in the sixth inning due to rain.

"In all my years in baseball," said Flying Goose manager Tom King, "I've never seen a group like this one. They just did not believe they could lose. And in a situation where we had to do all that winning, that's the kind of attitude we had to have."

Flying Goose pitcher Bob Humphrey was named tourney co-MVP, along with standout Benicia pitcher-catcher Bill Haley.

Humphrey, added to the roster from South San Francisco after the North Peninsula playoffs, allowed two hits and no runs in his 14 innings of work (the limit allowed in the tourney) and won two games.

In the second game, the Scheffler-Anders gem, Flying Goose grabbed a 2-0 lead in the top of the third. John Canepa's single, an error on Scheffler's grounder and a walk to Rob Baptista loaded the bases with none out. Two outs later, Greg Zanders delivered a two-run single.

Anders relieved Scheffler in the bottom of the fourth with the bases loaded and one out. He promptly induced a grounder that went from Bob Woodcock at third to Baptista at second to Ron Sylvia at first for an inning-ending double play. Anders went on to record his third tourney win.

Baptista singled home Canepa in the fourth and again in the sixth for Flying Goose's other two runs.

Against the Italian Club Saturday, Humphrey tossed an eight-strikeout one-hitter. He retired the last 23 batters in a row after giving up a single in the bottom of the second.

Baptista had three hits, scored three runs and stole six bases. Tony Sebastiani collected three hits and three RBIs. Sylvia crashed a solo homer.

Fox, even with the rain delay, went the distance against Long Beach on a three-hitter.

Flying Goose got both its runs in the top of the first when Sebastiani was hit by a pitch, Woodcock tripled and Zanders hit a sacrifice fly.

Joining Humphrey on the all-tourney team were Sebastiani, Woodcock, Sylvia, Anders and Fox. Baptista rapped out a tourney record 11 hits, and Sylvia's three homers (accomplished on consecutive at-bats over two games) set a record.

The most hits Flying Goose's pitchers allowed in a game was five, and over the last five games FG had just one error.

King now leads a North Peninsula team into the state all-star tourney that began Tuesday in Vallejo.

of fertilizing the grounds for long periods were blamed.

A request for a modern sprinkler system to replace the outdated system not in use was also rejected, Yule charged.

The cure is simple, according to Yule: More money from the VA.

Carl Noll, Deputy Director of the VA's Cemetery System, told Ryan Golden Gate's budget is adequate.

Since the situation was generated in recent months, things have improved at the cemetery, Noll said.

The VA has increased the budget, and approved purchase of new equipment, personnel is adequate, and "things are really moving," Noll said.

And the practice of driving heavy concrete vault-loaded trucks over gravesites has ceased, Noll said.

Another VA official, Jim Griffin, Regional Director in the San Francisco office, told Ryan of progress being made since Spelman was replaced.

"Things are coming along real good," Griffin said. "I feel we are giving the cemetery enough (money) to operate."

Next year the cemetery's budget will be upped to more than $1 million, Ryan was told.

Ryan listened to complaints from citizens about the conditions for almost two hours before personally touring the cemetery. It was his second tour of the facility in two years — both for the same reason.

"I am simply responding to comments and complaints from people concerned about a common problem," Ryan said.

But when Ryan attempted to conclude the hearing, Spelman's supporters demanded they be allowed to speak on the ousted superintendent's behalf.

As he rose to leave the small chapel, where almost 100 persons packed themselves in to attend the matter, Councilman Griffith commented that the hearing "is a railroad job if ever I saw one."

"I'm not going to put him (Spelman) on trial here Dick," an angry Ryan responded to Griffith. "That I will not do."

The hearing will hopefully bring about improvements, Ryan said, after pointing out that his office had received a stream of complaints about the cemetery in the past three years.

One woman, Rachel Sabella, told how her father's casket had fallen off a cart when it hit a chuckhole while being wheeled to his gravesite.

Another said her son's grave was "a mess."

Mrs. Dulcie M. Crook, of San Mateo, said her son, Lt. Avon H. Crook, "deserves better."

"He jumped the Rhine in 1945 and went to war in Korea. He was missing in action Feb. 12, 1951, after leading a patrol there. I have gone to Golden Gate Cemetery continually and have been shocked and outraged over the condition of his grave." Mrs. Crook said.

Cemetery gardener Robert Peterson said the gophers which frequent the cemetery grounds are responsible for the lack of grass.

His workers have trapped thousands of the gophers, but each time he feels he is winning the war on the destructive critters, he is ordered to stop the battle.

"I don't know why they ordered me to stop," Peterson said.

The story of sunken graves was repeated over and over again to Ryan at the hearing.

Joseph J. Pausner, of San Mateo, said he buried his wife at Golden Gate and when he went to visit her grave two months later it had already sunk two feet.

He complained to the superintendent and when he returned two days later, someone had emptied a wheelbarrow load of dirt into the depression.

On top of the dirt heap was an empty beer can, Pausner said.

awhile, newcomers begin to feel a part of the "family" and becomes as protective of it as those who have been there longer.

After six to nine months, the newcomer is ready to take other people under his wing. The person who takes a hard-line attitude about enforcing the rules is considered the one with most genuine concern about helping others.

"When you come here, there's real people who help you get your life together," Lee said. "I was scared and I was tired. I listened to John in his seminar. The counselors show you you can make it.

"You can't keep pondering on the past. This is the first time I've accepted any reality. It's a painful process."

All three are enthusiastically loyal to the foundation and devote themselves to several of the businesses Delancey Street operates to feed and house the 350 residents at three houses in San Francisco.

Each must work his way up into the more desirable jobs. Prince, for example, is working on the annual fund-raising drive, selling tickets on the street for a drawing Sept. 6. He enjoys telling people about Delancey Street and wants to get into the procurement department, which solicits endowments, because he'll have more of a chance to talk up the organization.

Inglis, who is enrolled at the University of San Francisco and plans to take a test for his real estate license and set up a business for the foundation, now works in the ad gifts specialty department.

Obviously, he is proud of himself, traveling to nine states selling a wide range of embossable items, such as pens and mugs, to businesses and colleges for promotional use.

Lee was in charge of setting up this year's drawing, assigning Delancey Street members to shopping centers, distributing tickets, talking to merchants, keeping the books.

"It reminds me of who you front dope to," he said laughing.

Lee would like to go to work in Delancey Street's finance department, and plans to attend City College to take bookkeeping courses.

All three, who at least superficially seem possessed of more drive, responsibility and willingness to work than most people, still are ambivalent about cutting the ties with Delancey Street.

"Being here helps me to cope with what goes on outside," Prince said. "When you're out on the street talking to people, you deal with a lot of rejection. I don't get my feelings hurt as much as when I first started."

His goals are modest ones — to have a home where he can invite his family to dinner, to do some of the things for them that they did for him.

"Delancey Street is steering me in the right direction, but I've got a lot of work to do," he said. "I've got a semester to go on my associates's degree. Right now I'm more interested in Delancey Street than in anything else. I think I'll always be associated with Delancey Street."

Likewise Inglis and Lee have helping the organization uppermost in their minds right now, getting an education, giving something back to the family.

"I think about moving out and I get scared and I get confused," Lee said. "Before I leave here I want to get my ace in the hole."

So, in the meantime, they're tying their personal survival to the foundation's, helping out in the numerous businesses — a restaurant, an auto shop, a florists, Christmas tree sales — which keeps the foundation's three residences going.

With its emphasis on self-reliance, Delancey Street doesn't go after big private or public grants, which usually have strings attached.

"We want to stay away from creating a psychological dependency that the world owes them a living," said Bernice Gibbs of San Francisco, 46, a former heroin addict and later an alcoholic. She now assists in the foundation's public relations program.

"You figure there's a horn of plenty. We try to lay the preparations for self-esteem and self-respect. We try to groom people who are producers."

No suspects have been charged with the crimes as yet.

In fact, several persons picked up and questioned, were later released after being cleared. Some underwent so-called "lie detector" tests (polygraph) and passed with flying colors, a police officer said.

The North County's five murders involved young and pretty women. All had brown hair parted in the center. Four were raped, two definitely by the same person, police experts said, after gathering evidence at the scene of the crimes.

The San Mateo victims included Veronica Cascio, 18, of Pacifica. Her stabbed body was found near a creek bed at the Sharp Park Golf Course on Jan. 8.

Paula Louise Baxter, 17, of Millbrae, was found stabbed to death behind a church in a grove of eucalyptus trees on Feb. 8.

Tanya Marie Blackwell, 14, was reported missing on Jan. 24 and her body was found in the Gypsy Hills section of Pacifica by two teen-age boys on June 6. She had been stabbed to death.

Denise Lampe, 19, of Broadmoor, was found stabbed to death in her car at Serramonte Shopping Center parking lot on April 1. Miss Lampe, an employe of the center, was the only victim not raped.

Annex

• Pre-zone the territory prior to annexation.

If the annexation becomes a reality, according to Fleming's report, the most severely impacted districts would be Broadmoor Police, Colma Lighting and Colma Fire districts.

Losses could amount to (in 1976 dollars) $158,850 in the area being considered for annexation.

Daly City, on the other hand, would realize an increase of some $184,850 in revenues.

Of this amount, $88,850 would be property taxes and $96,000 would be miscellaneous revenues such as local share sales taxes, Fleming estimates.

The capital improvements promised for the area are expected to run as high as $277,400.

If construction is spread over a ten-year period, Fleming said, indicating the improvements would not be done overnight, annual capital expenditures would equal $27,740.

The matter will likely go to a vote of residents of the target area, at which time opponents of the move will be heard, acting mayor Albert Teglia said.

For example, Daly City's new tax rate will be $1.99 per $100 of assessed valuation — up 10 cents from last year.

Colma Fire Commissioner Ted Kirschner, a 25-year resident of the area, took exception to a statement made by Fleming noting that "services will be upgraded in the area" when the city takes over.

Humane Society Seeks Helpers

The Peninsula Humane Society needs volunteers who enjoy people and animals and have one half day a week to spare.

The society is scheduling training sessions beginning Sept. 8 for those interested in volunteering as education or adoption specialists.

The classes are designed to offer new volunteers an understanding of the function of PHS in their community. Included will be specifics on animal care and behavior, basic techniques for working with people and ideas for classroom presentations. Four class sessions are scheduled through Sept. 29.

Volunteers who choose to work in the pet adoption program at the animal shelter will help people select pets. They will also get to know the animals available for adoption so the best possible placements can be made.

By mid-October those who choose to be educational specialists will begin giving presentations in their neighborhood schools and will conduct tours of the animal shelter. They work in teams of two.

Current education specialists have developed a variety of aids, from animal finger puppets to instructional posters for classroom use in teaching kindness to animals and care of pets. Sometimes they bring their own pets to class, from guinea pigs and rabbits to cats and dogs.

Those interested in volunteering should contact Ann Brice, PHS Education Dept., 12 Airport Blvd., San Mateo 94401.

Applicants will be interviewed through Aug. 27.

Budget Adjustment for Bureau

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors will have to do some adjusting of the proposed 1976-77 county budget to provide a $15,400 contribution to the Volunteer Bureau.

The Volunteer Bureau was overlooked last month when the board made its revenue sharing allocations to community based social service agencies. The board subsequently declined to reconsider funding the organization from revenue-sharing funds, claiming it would have opened the door to a floor of requests for reconsideration from other organizations which were not funded.

The board directed that the Department of Health and Welfare find some means of financing the contribution from its budget.

In a report to the Board of Supervisors this week, County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett requested that the additional funding be provided by the board.

Pickett said the additional funding will not be used if some way can be found to allocated the money from the existing departmental appropriations. However, he related, the present outlook is that the funding needed for the Volunteer Bureau will not be available within appropriations currently available to the department.

Agencies Seek Help

Swine Flu immunization clinic workers continue to the head the requests for volunteers listed with the Volunteer Bureau-Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

SWINE FLU IMMUNIZATION CLINICS — Volunteers throughout the county to help in the mornings or afternoons on Saturday or Sunday. Vaccine will be provided free for all county residents 18 years of age and older. Volunteers will help with registration, reaction information and arm swabbing.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD — Persons to help with many clinic tasks. The next training and orientation session is scheduled for Sept. 15 and 16 and will cover counseling techniques and interviewing procedures with patients in a clinic setting. An in-take interview is required for all prospective volunteers prior to the training session.

AMERICAN RED CROSS — Drivers to take seniors and other individuals unable to drive to their medical appointments. Red Cross vehicles may be used and hours may be arranged at the volunteers' convenience.

CHILDREN'S HEALTH HOME — Persons to work with exceedingly retarded people on a one-to-one basis at the Day Care Center between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. A teacher's aide is also needed in the activity center.

COYOTE POINT MUSEUM ASSOCIATION — A coordinator to assist in the production of environmentally oriented puppet shows. The volunteer will work with others in writing a script, making simple puppets and presenting the show at the park on Sundays. Hours may be arranged to suit the volunteer's schedule. Participants also need to help with the shows.

LUNG ASSOCIATION — People to stamp, fold and stuff materials in mid-August. The minimum age for volunteering is 14 and hours needed are between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

More information about these and other jobs may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau which is located at 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame. It is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the Volunteer Bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded in part by the County of San Mateo.

94 Seek Manager Post in South SF

Approximately 90 per cent of the 94 applications submitted for the position of South San Francisco city manager are from out of state, according to Administrative Assistant Rosemary Cameron.

The final date for accepting applications was Tuesday although applications postmarked on that date will be accepted throughout the week, she said.

The City Council is seeking a replacement for Edward Alario who was fired in June.

Frank Addiego, the city's director of public services, is serving as acting city manager until a replacement is appointed by the council.

Originally, a screening committee was to have reviewed the applications and made a recommendation to the City Council.

However, Miss Cameron said the council was unable to agree upon the need for a committee.

Addiego had said it would include three professionals — probably city managers from three other cities — as well as Mayor Leo Padreddii and Addiego.

Councilman William Borba said he objected to the screening committee concept entirely.

Artist Foils Rape

Police today were searching for a would-be rapist with burns on his right cheek.

According to Redwood City police he was burned by a 47-year-old cigar-smoking woman artist when he attempted to assault her late Wednesday night after crawling through the window of her studio apartment.

The woman told Officer D.A. Tozzini she was watching the late night news on TV and drawing, when the man crawled through her window.

He pointed to a nearby phone and asked if he could use it, saying he lived down the street. She said she returned to her bed and began drawing again.

Suddenly the man put down a magazine he had been carrying, approached her bed and ordered her to disrobe.

"Take off your clothes," he demanded.

"No," she replied calmly.

She reported he pulled a pocket knife and put his hand over her mouth. She placed her burning cigar against his right cheek and began screaming, "Don't, don't."

He loosened his grip, she said, and fled through the door.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

We are still thinking about ways to use the plentiful apple crop the markets are featuring.

There is nothing more delicious than applesauce served warm or cold with just a dash of cinnamon or nutmeg to give it extra flavor. Pare core and quarter apples. Place in a large kettle with just enough water to keep them from burning and boil until tender. Add sugar to taste, spices if desired, and boil a few minutes longer.

Reserve a cup and a fourth of applesauce and make this delicious nut bread.

APPLESAUCE NUT BREAD

2 cups flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup cooking oil
3 tablespoons milk
1¼ cups applesauce
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup brown sugar for topping
¼ cup chopped nuts for topping
½ teaspoon cinnamon for topping%Sift the two cups flour with the half teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon soda and fourth teaspoon each salt, allspice and nutmeg. Beat the two eggs with the three-fourths cup sugar, one-half cup cooking oil and three tablespoons milk. Add dry ingredients and mix well. Blend in the one and one-fourth cups applesauce and half cup chopped nuts.

Pour batter into a well-greaded 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Mix the fourth cup each brown sugar and chopped nuts with the half teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle over batter. Bake in preheated 350-degree oven for one hour or until bread tests done. Cool completely before cutting.

This bread freezes nicely.

Westmoor Signup Dates Are Slated

Students are to bring transfer papers or their most recent report card from last school attended.

All students new to Westmoor are also invited to the school's annual Orientation Assembly in the Boy's Gym Sept. 2 at 8:30 a.m.

LSSD Tax Rate Up 30 Cents

Trustees of Laguna Salada School District have adopted a 1976-77 budget that includes a 30-cent tax increase.

The new tax rate is set at $2.0996 per $100 of assessed valuation, reflecting a .2975 jump over last year's rate of $1.8021.

SUPERINTENDENT James R. Brien explained the reason for the increase is a change in the state's formula for funding (SB 90) which shifts a greater burden of school financing onto local taxpayers who live in districts where there is declining enrollment.

LSSD's total estimated 1976-77 budget is $8,699,647 which is $216,878 over last year's figure of $8,482,769.

The account showing the greatest increase over last year's is the appropriation for contingency fund in which $271,000 of a total of $315,000 in newly-received SB 1641 monies were placed. (SB 1641 monies came in a move by the state to relieve some of the impact felt by the districts with declining enrollment).

FUNDS IN THE appropriation for contingency fund will be held in reserve to cover any emergency expenses and in anticipation of salary negotiations that are still being delayed until employes can select an exclusive bargaining agent.

The trustees stuck with plans to cut $630,881 in both classroom and non-classroom related expenses, but did relent and use some $38,081 of SB 1641 monies to restore: $6,000 for kindergarten to sixth-grade teaching assistant principals; $14,581 for instructional supplies and school fund account; and $17,500 to the building repairs and maintenance supplies account.

Another $6,000 of SB 1641 monies will be used to pay the district's share of the County School Board election expenses ($2,000) and as a contribution to Pyramid Alternatives, Inc., a local agency offering outpatient alcoholism education programs for the 1976-77 school year ($4,000).

The trustees hope to raise an additional $45,000 in revenue this year by increasing cafeteria meals for pupils to 60 cents and adults to 90 cents, in addition to increasing the price of a carton of milk, if purchased singularly, to 15 cents effective Sept. 13.

Substitute teachers will get their first pay increase in LSSD since November, 1972. Substitutes on short-term assignments now receive $30 per day, while those on long-term assignments will get $35 a day.

BRIEN SAID LSSD still ranks second-lowest in substitute teacher pay among San Mateo County school districts, with only Ravenswood on a lower scale.

Board members rejected a recommendation from the administration to levy a one-cent tax over-ride to purchase cafeteria supplies.

In other action the trustees:

• Approved implementation of AB 3976 that will allow children who reach the age of 5 years at any time during the school year to be admitted to kindergarten with the approval of their parent or guardian; however, specific details have yet to be worked out.

• Approved the appointment of Patricia Kennison as co-ordinator of special-funded programs.

Pacifica Slices Tax Rate Hike From 46 to 18 Cents

An 18½-cent tax rate increase for 1976-77 has been approved by the Pacifica City Council following months of budget study sessions.

The new tax rate, $2.305 per $100 of assessed valuation, was approved Monday night on a 4-1 vote, with Councilman Nick Gust dissenting.

However, the new rate is minimal compared to the 46-cent increase proposed in March by City Manager Don Weidner.

Weidner had presented that tax rate proposed, saying it reflected "a disappointing reduction in levels of public service, programs and staffing."

In a series of budget hearings which ended in July, the council sliced and chopped and came up with a tax rate they found more acceptable.

The budget itself, adopted at the last July hearing, was reduced from the $5.9 million proposed in March to the adopted figure of $5.4 million.

Gust, however, battled until the last minute to reduce that tax rate still further.

During the budget hearings, Gust had presented a list of possible budget cuts totalling more than $700,000, most of which were rejected by the majority of the council.

Gust told the council Monday that the tax rate could be reduced another 10 cents.

The councilman said the council had done a commendable job of whittling away at the tax rate proposal.

"That doesn't mean we can't reduce the tax rate below last year," Gust said. "We do have $200,000 no one seems to want to talk about."

Gust moved that the council take $200,000 in interest from revenue-sharing and a $30,000 appropriation for beach cleaning maintenance equipment and put those amounts in the general budget.

The $30,000 expenditure depends on the approval of a ballot measure in November but Gust said that the measure, which calls for a tax rate increase, will not be approved by the city's voters anyway.

After the council failed to second his motion, Gust suggested another. He moved that $50,000 in interest from revenue sharing be put in the general fund budget. Again, his motion died for lack of a second.

"I can't understand this," Gust said. "Why doesn't anybody want to talk about that particular money?"

Councilman Mark Savage said he preferred not to take money that is available only once — the revenue-sharing interest — and lower the tax rate, when there is no way to see what the city may need in the future.

City Manager Weidner said the tax rate increase is due to three special assessment districts which became delinquent.

If the assessment districts were paid up, there probably would not have been a tax rate, Weidner said.

'Breeding Ground For Youthful Alcohol Users'

If statistics showing 40 per cent of seventh grade students in San Francisco schools use alcohol on a regular basis seem too far away from your quiet suburban neighborhood to worry about, then you'd better read on.

A presentation to the Laguna Salada School District governing board Thursday by Dr. George Torney, executive director of Pyramid Alternatives, Inc., a local agency providing outpatient alcoholism counseling services, revealed that the suburbs could be the breeding ground for an even larger number of student alcohol users than their urban neighbors.

Torney explained that while the use of alcohol in the cities is more open and easier to estimate, the use of alcohol and drugs in the suburbs is probably higher because of a greater affluence.

Torney again referred to the statistics found in the Callahan Study that show there is no longer any distinction between the sexes and the amount of alcohol consumed — boys and girls engage equally in the use of alcohol.

TORNEY SUGGESTED the women's liberation movement may have had a lot to do with increased use of alcohol by the female students, but that, whatever the reasons, the figures are not encouraging.

Pyramid Alternatives is trying to deal with this problem through education, said Torney. It plans to go out into the schools and give lectures on alcohol and how it affects the individual.

He said Pyramid workers often find, after completing a classroom lecture, that one or two youngsters will come up and begin asking questions. Many times these youngsters want help, he said.

Pyramid, which operates with a staff of four professionals, two office managers, and 14 trained volunteers, offer their assistance not only to the youngster but the family as well.

Pacifica Police Capt. Tony Guardino was introduced by Torney as the president of Pyramid's Board of Directors.

Guardino said that there is a very real problem with alcohol and drugs and that any sudden behavior pattern changes can be a clue to detecting alcohol use.

Guardino says this is especially true of an incorrigible child with no prior record of behavior problems.

Trustee Rudie Treeten said the word "epidemic" would not be exaggerating the problem of alcohol and drug use by school-age children.

Divided Pacifica Council Supports Coastal Bill

A divided Pacifica City Council has voted to support specific legislation aimed at carrying out Proposition 20 of 1972, The Coastal Act.

With Councilman Stan Farber and Nick Gust disapproving, the council voted 3-2 Aug. 9 to support Senate Bill 1277 by Sen. Jerry Smith, D-Saratoga.

The legislation reportedly is sailing through Assembly committees.

The Pacifica City Council has been awaiting legislation that will impose permanent controls on development along California's 1,072-mile coastline.

The council is concerned what its role will be as one of the coastal cities affected by Proposition 20.

The council Monday received a report on all current major legislation that would make the proposition's concepts permanent.

Councilman Mark Savage moved that the council support the Smith bill.

Councilman Sidney Lorvan added that legislation adopted by the state should follow the original coastal initiative as closely as possible, that the state should provide funding for local agencies that must carry out the legislation and that it should be the goal of the state to eliminate the original Coastal Commission, to be replaced by local groups.

Gust was adament in his belief that the council was signing a blank check. He said the council shouldn't support any coastal legislation until the legislature spells out exactly how much it will cost to carry out the legislation and whether funding will be provided for the cities to do their share of the work.

"How we can make a motion like that is beyond my comprehension," Gust said. "Let's find out what we're voting on."

One Coast resident, Kay Grotton, agreed, saying that with the many amendments and changes that will affect the legislation, the council should wait until the bill is completed.

However, another resident, John Curtis, said that Gov. Edmund Brown has taken action supporting the bill. If the governor can support it, so can the Pacifica City Council, Curtis said.

Valet Parking for Castaway Guests

There is always convenient valet parking for those joining the Brunch Bunch at THE CASTAWAY restaurant, Coyote Point. Guests are treated to a wonderful Island Fruit Buffet as well as a selective buncheon menu while enjoying a view of the Bay and the activity of the nearby airport. Special prices for children. To insure a window table for large groups, early reservations are suggested.....THE KITE TREE, located on the lower level of the Tanforan Park Shopping Center (next to Penney's), is offering something special: Present the coupon (see their advertisement in today's "Bright Lights") and receive a free cup of coffee. With coffee prices being "higher than a kite," this is quite a value. No purchase is necessary . . . . Transportation is never a problem to BARNEY'S and SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET customers. Once you arrive at the lake just seek out a Barney's bus — free transportation to and from the clubs is available . . . .The "2 for 1" lunch at BAYHILL LOUNGE is now in full swing. The coupon in today's "Bright Lights" will entitle you to the money-saving offer: buy one $2.95 lunch and receive a second like lunch free. This is HARRY CURUSIS and MEL CICERO'S way of saying thanks for your patronage in the past year.....NICK'S Rockaway Beach restaurant has been a dine-out tradition for as many years as your Bright Lighter can remember. Dining, dancing, cocktails, and party facilities await your arrival and reservation. Add NICK GUST'S other two restaurants, CAPTAIN CHARLES and THE MOONRAKER, and you have a three-way winning combination.....San Francisco's newest "in" spot for V.I.P. parties is the posh "Butler's Pantry," an intimate hideaway in PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY, at the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Hotel Tower, Taylor Street entrance. Food, service and setting are all fit for royalty.

The papers are filled suddenly with "Back to School" sales, and the shopping centers seem filled with teenagers surveying the latest in school clothes and parents eyeing the price tags on all those school essentials!

To celebrate the return of the younger set from various vacation sites Monique Pearl of Westlake was the hostess for a "welcome back everyone" party weekend. Friends who will be attending schools in San Francisco or Ben Franklin Intermediate or Serramonte High School in Daly City gathered in the Pearl home for an evening of sharing summer adventures and dancing.

GETTING READY for their first full season of volunteer work as members of Mary's Help Hospital Guild are new members Mrs. Robert Durnal of San Francisco, Mrs. Carmella Guardaldi of Daly City, and Mrs. Jacqueline Lewis and Mrs. Karen O'Neil, also of Daly City.

Mrs. Toni Michels, the guild's chairman in charge of collecting coupons and bonus points, urges everyone to clip and save Gift Stars from Golden Grain products and the Bonus Gift Point coupons. The guild saves these coupons year around and cashes them in for funds to be applied to scholarships in health related fields.

The coupons may be left in the gift shop in the lobby of Mary's Help Hospital or may be mailed to Mrs. Michels, 15 Morton drive in Daly City.

DALY CITY'S FRANK GALO has been named the president of the Balboa Boosters.

According to Galo the Boosters organization is a sports oriented organization with open membership. The members support the development of a superior program of physical education at Balboa High School in San Francisco by providing funds to purchase equipment, awards and to assist in the financing or presentation of banquets. No previous affiliation with the high school is required — only an interest in youth and high school athletics, Galo emphasized.

For a nominal membership fee Boosters are admitted free of charge to all home games played by the school and members have an opportunity to meet and work with young athletes by taking part in Booster activities.

For more information write Galo 513 Hanover St., Daly City, or write to the Boosters, 1000 Cayuga Ave., San Francisco, 94112.

Questions! Questions!

Do you have questions?

Do you need information?

Take your questions to your public library. It has a collection of reference tools to help you.

Here are a few questions that were posed at the Daly City Public Library last month.

1. "I have a brooch that my friend calls a carbuncle, but it looks like a garnet to me. What's the difference?"

Carbuncle is an old name for garnet and other red stones. The term is used, at present, to designate such stones when they are cut in oval form. In times past, carbuncles were highly prized for their reputed power of giving out light in darkness.

A garnet, on the other hand, is a hard, brittle, glasslike mineral which forms various types of isometric crystals. These stones may differ in color and composition, but have the same general chemical formula. The hardness is usually greater than quartz. Precious garnet is usually red.

A jeweler can tell you if your brooch is a precious stone.

2. "An aunt of mine writes that her child dies of erysipelas. Is that possible?"

Dorland's Medical Dictionary defines erysipelas as a contagious, infectious disease of the skin and subcutaneous tissue, marked by redness and swelling of afflicted areas, and with constitutional (that which effects the whole body) systems. Sometimes it is accompanied by vesicular and bullous lesions.

The question of it causing death leads to an observation found in The New Illustrated Medical Encyclopedia For Home Use. "It is dangerous to treat oneself. A phone call to your physician will reveal whether expert medical care is necessary. If you are not sick enough to require a visit, your doctor will tell you."

In this regard, please understand that the medical books in public libraries, while highly useful as dictionaries and guides, are not meant to be used to furnish the information that should be supplied by a physician. Your reference librarian will help you to the information that may be found in such books and advise you that the interpretation is up to the medical profession.

3. "I need a book on how to do my own divorce."

There are several books that treat this subject. Among them are: How To Do Your Own Divorce in California by Charles E. Sherman; Divorce and Annulment in the 50 States by Michael E. Meyer.

In using such books one must keep in mind the wise words of Sherman. "This book is not designed to replace an attorney. It is meant to help you decide whether or not you need one." He adds that the only time an attorney is not needed is when there is no opposition to the divorce from either partner in the marriage.

In the preface to his book, Mr. Mayer writes that "the matrimonial area is one of change, confusion, and uncertainty. Get a good legal opinion before you act."

Two Attend CSEA Meeting

Two members of Daly City-Pacifica Chapter, CSEA No. 397, attended the 50th annual Classified School Employees Association conference in Sacramento Aug. 2 through 6 representing the classified employees of Jefferson Union High School District.

Chapter president, Dorothy Blasquez, employed at Oceana, and Mary Highland, chapter secretary who is employed in the district office, heard talks about Senate Bill 160 and collective bargaining.

Delegates to the convention attracted national news coverage on two occasions during the week. On one afternoon over 1,000 delegates stormed the capitol building lobbying for the passage of AB 3003 which broadens the scope of SB 160 and will give classified employees the same bargaining rights as certificated personnel. The bill passed the following day, 55-9.

On Friday, Gov. Jerry Brown attended the conference session to present an award from CSEA to classified employe Ed Ray, the Chowchilla bus driver who was responsible for the safety of those recently kidnaped 26 school children.

Le Pacini

The Sporting News has published an exact replica of the 1877 constitution and playing rules of the National League, and it is a fascinating document, a miniature paperback time capsule which simultaneously shows how baseball has changed since those times, yet not really changed much at all.

If we were hurtled back in time to an 1877 baseball game, or baseball game, as it was known then, we would understand the game, even though, for example, the "pitcher's position" was in a flat six-foot-square box just 45 feet from "home base" and the pitchers had to throw underhand, much like today's softball pitchers, while batters could direct them as to whether they wanted the ball thrown high or low.

And if the ball wasn't thrown where the batters directed, it was called a ball.

Still, there were nine men to a team, three outs to an inning, nine innings, all of the present defensive positions were also then in existence, etc.

By the same token, I believe that a fan from 1877 would pretty much understand what is happening in today's game, except, perhaps, for the business end of it and certainly except for the players' attitudes.

In 1877, in fact, there was even a written rule having to do with the attitude of players. Under Rule III, Sec. 3, it read. "The club is entitled to the best services of the player, and if any player becomes indifferent or careless in his play, or from any cause becomes unable to render service satisfactory to his club, the club may, at its option, refuse to pay salary for such time or cancel contract of said player."

And today's fans certainly wouldn't last very long in the ball parks of 1877 because there was a specific rule, then, which came under Article XIV, "Field Rules," which stated: "The umpire is the sole judge of play, and is entitled to the respect of the spectators, and any person hissing or hooting at, or offering any insult or indignity to him, must be promptly ejected from the grounds."

Perhaps the most startling contrasts between the two centuries, however, came from the advertisements which appeared in the little booklet published by A.G. Spalding & Bros. out of Chicago (and which was to evolve into the legendary Spalding Guide).

Spalding, of course, was a sporting goods house that manufactured bats, gloves and uniforms. One ad explained painstakingly why the Spalding Brothers had to charge so much for baseball bats. Other bats, the claim was made, were "made up so cheaply and out of unseasoned wood, they are worthless."

Spalding went on to explain that other bats "are machine made." But, explained the brothers, "by making up our stock in the fall for the following season out of straight grained, well seasoned timber, and each bat turned by hand . . . we are enabled to offer . . . a better . . . article than can be obtained from any other house . . ."

All this to explain why Spalding's ash bats HAD to be sold for 30 cents each, $3 per dozen; cherry bats, 35 cents and $3.50; "swamp willow" bats, 50 cents and $5,; and basswood bats, 25 cents and $2.50 (boys' ash and basswood bats went for 15 cents each).

"First quality" uniforms were $10 per man, second quality, $8.50. "Extra quality, well padded Indian tanned buck" catchers mitts went for $2.50.

• • • •

Albert Spalding, who was also a great pitcher in those early years, once said something which players with interests outside of baseball, might want to clip and hang over their lockers:

"No ballplayer, in my recollection, ever made a success of any other business while he was building up his reputation as an artist on the diamond. The two branches are entirely unlike in their demands . . . No man can do his best at ballplaying unless his whole soul is in the effort."

And while we have the old times on our mind, don't let Charley Finley bull you that he is a visionary. Not only have bright-colored uniforms and colored baseballs been used in the big leagues in the past, but the designated hitter concept was proposed in 1928 by John Heydler, president of the National League.

• • • •

AS LONG AS WE ARE DABBLING in the past, I nominate as an unbreakable record, right alongside Lou Gehrig's consecutive game-playing streak and Joe DiMaggio's consecutive game-hitting streak, the 190 runs driven in by Hack Wilson in 1930.

And speaking of good hitters, don't always look at just the batting averages. Notice who the guy in the lineup is who continually gets two of the team's hits when the opposing pitchers throws a five or six hitter, or who consistantly hits the top pitchers.

And still on hitters — to understand just how awesome the Reds' lineup is — understand that the slugging Phillies have hit 20 fewer homers than the Reds, and scored 100 fewer runs. And Cincinnati, aside from pitchers, has more batters hitting over .300 than hitting under .300.

• • • •

IF YOU'RE STILL WONDERING what's really wrong with the Giants, just consider this: they give up about three-quarters of an unearned run per game, which is virtually the same as starting every game behind 1-0 before the first pitch.

Ironically, Chris Speier (who is currently no longer the Giants' shortstop), leads the league's shortstops in assists and is third in put-outs, and Ken Reitz leads major league third basemen in DP's.

Mark Hill, along with Johnny Bench, is the only at least semi-regular catcher in baseball to have yet committed an error, and Hill, before he was injured, had only one passed ball. Bench had four.

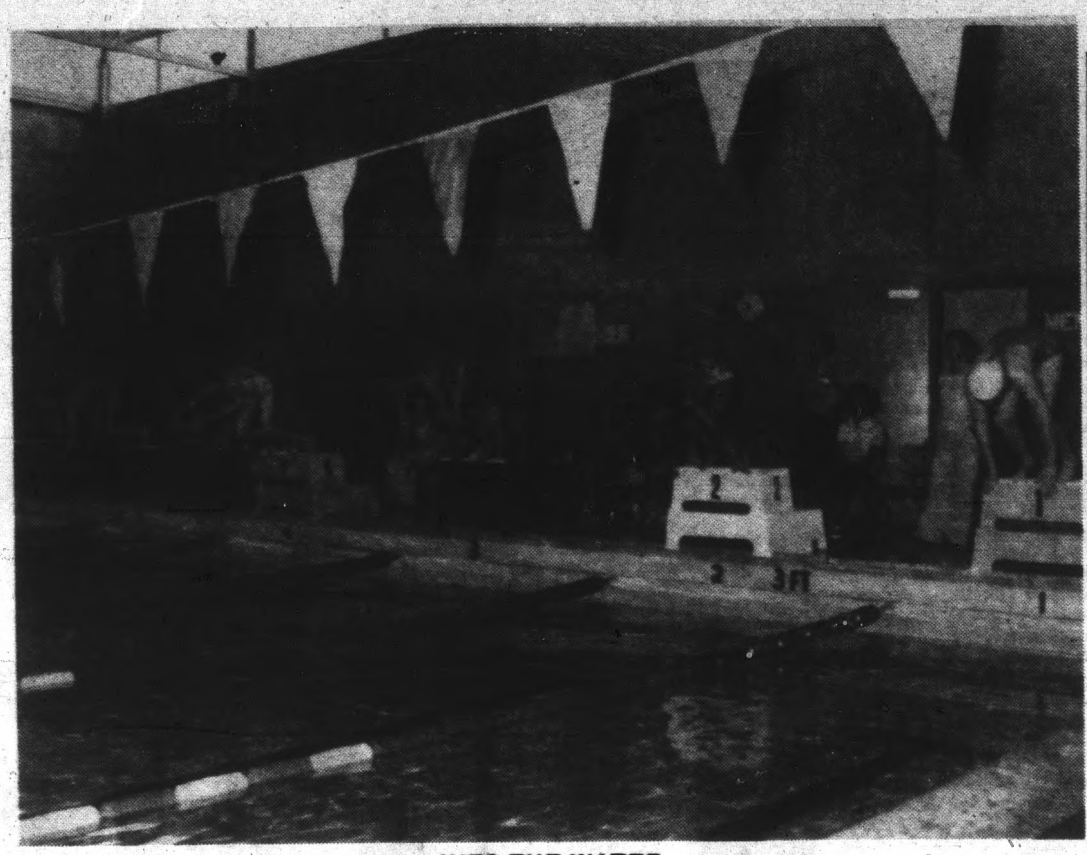
THE GIANTS MAY HAVE CREATED one of those perennial barroom baseball quizzes recently. The question would be, how can a team get the bases loaded with none out, have the opposition drop a pop fly, and yet never score a run?

Easy, doctor. You have Gary Thomasson on third, and when Ron Cey drops the pop with the infield fly rule on and base runners advancing at their own risk, you have Thommason dash for home to get thrown out and create a DP. Then you have the next batter go out, and viola! A new way to screw up!

COUPLE OF MONTHS AGO, Dr. Thomas Tutko, a professor of psychology, told a gathering of jock media people at the National Association of Sports Writers and Sportscasters in North Carolina that, among many other things, today's professional athletes are lousy models for kids and that adults interfere too much in kids' sporting activities.

He said that until a child reaches about age 14 when his psyche has formed as well as it ever will, he shouldn't be subjected to activities not directed by his peer group. In other words, he said, it was much nicer when kids gathered on a playground and chose up sides.

Thanks, doc. Glad somebody of authority has finally gotten around to agreeing with what we wrote in a 1963 column — that adults "should get the hell out of the playgrounds and let their kids choose up sides."



INTO THE WATER

Members of the Daly City Summer Swim team dive into the water in competition during an inter-squad swim meet Aug. 7. Daly City held its first annual swim meet from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at the Westmoor Pool. The meet was open to youth and adults.

Youngsters Set for End-of-Summer Games Day

The 1976 Summer Playground Program, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, will culminate in a City-Wide Festival of Cultures — American Style Aug. 19 at Westlake Park.

All playgrounds and parks will be featured in an opening parade followed by a full day of games and special activities.

Playground action for the past week included:

Participation recognition for George Washington Playground goes to: Darryl Kennedy, Lula Kennedy, Tony Boone, Perry Bradstreet, Raul Diaz, Chistol Diaz, Cornnell Holmes, Banberry Holmes, Jerry Balagtas, Eric Barabin and Jonny Teblin.

The Northridge Park trip last week was to McNears Beach. Mari and Patty Pender, Kathy Moyle, June Solangsang all went on a hike, they were attacked by bees, but fought them off for a good hiking day.

Relay races in the water was a popular event, and included Ernie Hoffman, Billy Moyle, Sal Navarro and Phil Franco.

Following the Wednesday barbeque the youngsters made sand candles. Candle awards went to Mari Pender for best looking Billy Moyle for best fragrance, smallest candle went to Steve Crocetti, best design to Christine Moyle, and most original candle went to Patty Pender for her apple candle. After the candles came marshmallow roasting.

Whiffle ball winners were Sal Navarro and Ernie Hoffman. Spud champions were Stacy and Karen Van Order, Matt and Joey Martella, Carol Toothaker, Tina Crocetti. Carrom winners were Roger Zaputa, Melvin Sears, Kathy Moyle. Checker champion was the undefeated champ Ray Moyle.

"Butterfingers" of the week went to that all-around champion Latrice Nash.

First place went to Mike Scheffler who sported a big black brimmed hat followed by Nick Ciolino wearing a stylish leopard fur cap adorned with peacock feathers.

Placing third was Tim Kuchac in his green aviator's cap and goggles while Tom Daly took fourth in a white flop hat with a blue scarf and two large ceramic flowers followed by Linda Rosenthal in her giant Mexican sombrero.

Other participants were Jaimie Schofield, Eleanor Erwin, Mike Nightingale, Tom Nuris, Kelly Evans, Bob Gradwohl, and the Judge was Richard Martinez.

Champions in two-on-two strike-out were Brett Kelly and Dave Radanovich followed by the team of Tom Daly and Tim Kuchac in second while Robert Caliz and Ara Bedikian took third. Other participants were Cesar Caliz, Steve Beverly, John and Chris Kallas, Pete Eliopoulos and their friend Mark.

Ron Spinetti took the Carroms crown in the 14-and-over division followed by George Spiliotis in second and John Shannon in third.

In ping-pong, Pete Matin again was tops while George Spiliotis took second and John Shannon placed third. In the 12- and 13-year-old bracket, Susan Nelson was Carroms Champ ahead of second place Cesar Caliz and Ara Bedikian took third.

In the 11-and-under division Nick Ciolino took first in both carroms and ping-pong followed by Mike Nightingale in second and Jon Pult in third at the Ping-Pong tables.

Taking second in Carroms was Martin Galindez followed by Jon Pult in third.

Among those that also offered good competition in the various divisions were Carlos Galindez, Maurice Kelly, Patty Scheffler, Kelly Evans, Tish Ciolino, Tim Tuchac, Kim Daly, Steve Nelson, Bobby Martinez, Bob Gradsohl, Doug Dennis, Joe Nobles, George Furnatz, Ernie Dupree, Steve Beverly, Curtis Blake and Pam Scheffler.

The final tournament of champions was held Aug. 13.

Skyline School is in its final week of the summer program.

Charlie, Edgar, and Eddie Penance will be there with friendly warm-hearted Billy Willy Glaspole are there to greet newcomers.

If your game is strike-out, Mike Candau will give you a few tips and will challenge you in a game. And if your game is "ditch," Mike and Eric Lamar will hide where you'll never find them. Or if you are in the younger set and haven't been to our beautiful recreation facility, Tim Brown and Steve Safler will give you a tour.

Sports
And Recreation

All Are Invited to Final Summer Event

The Daly City Recreation Department invites all residents, regardless of age, to participate in the annual end-of-summer event which is scheduled for Aug. 19 at Westlake Park, 145 Lake Merced Blvd.

This year's theme, Festival of Cultures — American Style, will feature each playground and park in the opening parade.

Following the judging of parade entries, field games, carnival booths, and athletic competition will fill the day.

An All-American lunch featuring hot dogs will be served for those purchasing meal tickets.

Transportation will be available for playground and park sites.

Contact your local recreation leader for complete details and registration forms.

Hotshot Matches Announced

Co-sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, the Pepsi-Cola/NBA Hotshot "game" is a new twist on a very familiar playground game.

Youngsters race against time to score as many points as possible shooting from five "Hotspots" marked on the court.

The competition is designed for youngsters between 9 and 18 years of age. Participants must be 9 years old on or before May 1. There are three separate divisions for both boys and girls. They are 9-12 years; 13-15 years; and 16-18 years.

Contests will be held at all recreation sites during the week of Sept. 27 through Oct. 1. Check with your neighborhood recreation leader for exact time and date of Hotshots at your playground.

Winners from each playground will be eligible to compete in the City Finals at the Westlake Community Center on Oct. 2 from 2-5 p.m.

Tennis Club Will Convene

The Daly City Recreation Department's Westlake Park Adult Tennis Club will hold a meeting Aug. 25 at 7 p.m.

The meeting will discuss some new ideas for the club and will also give adults the opportunity to sign up for the Tennis Club. For further information, contact Steve Geramoni at the Recreation Department.

June Election Campaign Spending Reported

By BOB HEMINGWAY

Daly City Councilman McRobert Stewart was the biggest spender among candidates seeking election to county posts in the June 8 primary election, according to final campaign expenditure statements filed with San Mateo County Clerk-Recorder Marvin Church.

Thursday was the deadline for filing final statements.

Stewart, one of three candidates for the Fifth District seat on the Board of Supervisors, reported receiving $23,742 and spending $30,184, leaving an indebtedness of $8,442.

Stewart will face Fred Lyon, an El Granada attorney, in a runoff for the board seat in the Nov. 2 general election.

Lyon reported a total of $15,232 in contributions, while spending $20,532.

The third candidate, Charles Carter, a Half Moon Bay restaurant owner, reported contributions of $3,121, while spending $3,068 on his campaign.

Incumbent Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald balanced out at $23,361 in contributions and expenditures in his successful bid for re-election to a four-year term from the First District.

His opponent, San Bruno City Councilman Richard Griffith, reported contributions of $3,591, and expenditure of the same amount.

Supervisor William H. Royer, who won re-election to the Fourth District post, reported contributions totaling $20,447, while spending $20,233.

Esther Rascon, a Redwood City community social service worker who opposed Royer in the election, reported a total of $4,999 in contributions and expenditures of $3,973.

In the six-way race for the Southern District Municipal Court post of Judge Roy W. Seagraves, former Asst. Dist. Atty. Robert Bishop was the biggest reported spender. Bishop reported contributions totaling $14,322, with expenditures of $13,090.

Bishop came in second in the balloting behind V. Gene McDonald, a Redwood City attorney. The two will compete in a runoff in the November election.

McDonald reported contributions of $8,990, and campaign costs of $8,205.

Judge Seagraves reported a total of $7,157 in contributions, while spending $6,902.

Gordon Rockhill reported contributions totaling $5,576, and expenditures of $4,474. Another unsuccessful candidate, Lewis Moore, reported contributions of $2,945, and expenses totaling $2,745.

The sixth candidate, Harold Francis, had not filed a final statement by Thursday's deadline.

In the contest for the other Southern District Municipal Court position, incumbent Judge Thomas M. Smith reported a total of $8,122 in contributions, while spending $7,818.

His unsuccessful opponent, San Carlos City Atty. John R. Sherman, reported contributions and expenses balancing at $1,030.

Proponents for annexation of the southerly portion of San Mateo County to the Midpeninsula Regional Park District spent nearly $10,000 in their successful campaign which saw the proposal narrowly pass.

The Citizens Committee for Annexation reported contributions and expenditures totaling $9,231.

Value Ratio Drops

The ratio of assessed property to full value of property in San Mateo County nosedived to 21.1 per cent as of March 1, 1976, according to the state Board of Equalization.

State law requires that county assessors assess all properties at 25 per cent of what each believes to be market value, based on appraisals made by staff members.

The ratios determined by the Board of Equalization show the difference between the counties' total locally assessed values as they appear on the assessment rolls and the board's estimates of the full current value of all locally assessable property.

San Mateo County Assessor Jack Estes said the main factor resulting in the discrepancy between the ratio established by his office and the Board of Equalization is the fact that the board uses "trends" for three straight years before it does an actual sampling in the county.

"It's a matter of peaks and valleys," Estes said.

He explained that when the state actually samples the relationship of assessed values to full value, the ratio rises. But in the years when the state utilizes trends in the same relationship, the ratio drops.

The latest San Mateo County ratio is based on a trend and gives the county the fourth lowest ratio of any county in the state.

Also contributing to the county's low ratio is the fact that virtually no residential property was reappraised last fiscal year, with the county's assessment roll increasing by just a little over four per cent.

Senior Meal Budget

A budget of $407,980 to finance the senior nutrition program in San Mateo County for the next 15 months received the approval of the County Economic Opportunity Commission Thursday night.

In a report to the commission, Kathleen Haney, director of the program, noted that the budget will provide a total of 178,750 meals over the 15-month period, an average of 550 meals a day for 325 days at a cost of 88 cents per meal.

Included in the budget is a 5 per cent cost-of-living salary increases for staff members.

Mrs. Haney said in the report that the search is underway for a centralized kitchen facility and warehouse for the nutrition program which could result in a reduction in operational costs.

It is hoped, she said, that some $45,000 can be reallocated after a central kitchen facility is operational, with the funds going into the acquisition of food to provide an additional 234 meals a day.

Teri Gezich, director of the Head Start program, reported that an application has been submitted to the state Department of Education seeking a $49,415 grant to expand the program in the Daly City-Pacifica-South San Francisco area.

If the funding is approved, she said, 60 more youngsters between the ages of 2 and 7 can be placed in the program, which now has 180 participants in the county.

Red Cross Hosting Foreign Youth

Seventeen youth from ten Red Cross Societies around the world will be spending two weeks in August as guests of American Red Cross Golden Gate Chapter Youth Service Programs.

This "California Bicentennial Visit" project has been in the planning stages in the Red Cross Youth Department for nearly a year.

The visiting youths, ranging in age from 15 to 21, will be from Denmark, England, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Spain, Sweden and Taiwan.

At an evening reception Aug. 16, the visitors were welcomed to the United States by the consuls of their countries, Red Cross youths and Red Cross volunteer leaders including Mrs. Harold L. Zellerbach, Chairman of Golden Gate Chapter Youth Service Programs, Mrs. Walter Krumm, Bicentennial Visit Chairman, and Mrs. Allen Mitchum, reception chairman.

"Cultural Heritage Day" is set for Aug. 19. The youth delegates from each country will team up with local Red Cross youth leaders and meet with a community leader who is highly knowledgeable or who has close ties with the country and heritage of the visiting youth.

Each team will explore the contributions in the greater Bay Area that the country of the visiting youth made to the development of our country. (Danes will visit Danish contributions, landmarks for example.)

"The Fifth Convention? As Youth Sees It" is the theme of a symposium to be held Aug. 20 in the Red Cross San Francisco office. The four Geneva Conventions held so far in history will be explored.

Representatives from local youth service organizations, Red Cross Youth high school and college volunteers and the visiting youth will explore future problems of the world and develop solutions and actions which youth can take around the world to alleviate one or more of today's problems.

By Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, YMCA, YWCA, CYO and 4-H Club members are expected to participate.

During their week-long stay in the Bay Area as guests of Red Cross, the visiting youth will be staying with host families in San Francisco and San Mateo Counties. These families will give the visitors a glimpse into the daily American lifestyle.

Fair Racing Makes More Than Fair

The 1976 bicentennial San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta set an all-time record for its racetrack income, nearly $1 million more than the previous year, with 100,000 visitors at the track, according to Guido Rozzi of San Mateo, racing director.

The fair itself was just behind 1975's all-time record pace, with a total of 171,186 turning out for the stroll between the flowers and booths despite heavy TV competition from the Montreal Olympics.

It set a new record, too, in citizen participation, with its bicentennial building the largest single theme effort by citizens' groups since the fair originated 42 years ago.

The racing response turned up a daily average of $1,149,445, Rozzi said, with a total handle of $13,793,334 for the 12-day program, as against $12,842,043 in 1975.

The record racetrack attendance was computed at 100,070.

The fair turnstile turnout was slightly more than 21,000 less than the record '75 attendance of 192,711, a year that saw a 41 per cent increase over 1974. Several individual days, however, broke records.

The fairgrounds were filled with exhibitors and displays, with no booths available in commercial buildings and extra spaces taken outside wherever possible. A notable characteristic was the spreading of heavy attendance at numerous outdoor features, ranging from a puppet show to a popular western music group that packed the center mall evenings.

Preliminary reports, according to Sal Millan, fair manager, indicated that participation and actual spending in the commercial booths increased on a per capita basis.

The annual Junior Livestock Auction saw 50 steers and 189 lambs sell for a total of $84,494.98, funds which support 4-H and F.F.A. activities which raised the animals.

Average price per pound for steers was 91 cents, while lambs averaged $1.81 per pound, livestock chairman Robert L. Hopper, Pacifica, reported.

The fair was an overall success, according to Fair Association President Anthony J. Tarlock of Hillsborough.

Tarlock noted that despite the bicentennial activities in the East and in many local communities, with special travel plans that competed with the fair season, it was an impressive year of voluntary participation by the community in fair activities.

Seniors Club Posts Gain in Membership

The Daly City Senior Citizens Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, recently registered members bringing the total membership to 300.

Dr. Rodney Chan and assistant Nina Todd of the San Francisco Podiatry Clinic recently visited the club and presented a slide show on the causes of foot problems and how to care for your feet.

Other guests included Manuel Alonzo, E.O.C. Outreach Worker and Rawlin Castro and Luis Rosario, N.Y.C. students.

Conserving Water in Garden

By IVA NEWMAN

The Master Nurserymen's Association suggests water conservation practices for gardening enthusiasts, and offers free counseling to local residents on an area-by-area basis as necessited by local water use regulations.

Soil conditioning is the key to moisture conservation in both new and established plantings. In those areas where new planting is still permitted, make the planting hole twice as wide and one-and-one-half times as deep as the plant container. Make a planting mixture of equal parts soil and humus, score the root ball in half a dozen places to prevent circling of the roots, place enough soil mixture in the bottom of the hole so as to hold the top surface of the root ball even with the surrounding soil and surround it with the mixture. If you don't have compost from your own garden, excellent, ready-made preparations such as 49'er redwood soil conditioner, pay dirt or peat moss, are available.

After setting the plant and filling in around it, water it well, using a soil penetrant that will assure moisture getting to the root area where it will do the most good. Peat moss is hard to wet and this material makes it much easier. Then plan to fertilize every six to eight weeks.

When do you water again? Timing will vary depending upon heat, soil texture and the geographical area in which you live. However, as a rule of thumb, plan to water every week to 20 days during the dry weather, using a system that is designed to carry the moisture down deep to the roots. Your local Master Nurseryman will help select the system that is just right for your planting and soil. Sprinkling, even where permitted, is not as satisfactory as deep watering. In especially hot, dry areas, it is generally recommended that watering be done at night or very early in the morning, when there is little wind to accelerate evaporation.

Watering roses overhead very early in the morning does not promote mildew. This was proven to us in Fresno and again in Los Angeles some years ago. In Los Angeles, the president of the American Rose Society, had his rose watering clock set to turn on the water at 2 a.m. The water was sprayed from 10-foot pipes so that it fell on the plants and soil like rain. The moisture had dripped off the foliage by daylight and the leaves were too dry to be burned by the time the sun was hot enough to do it. We couldn't find a plant with mildew and he said he never sprayed for this fungus.

How to keep lawns alive even though brown. Many people think that a brown lawn is a dead lawn. Not so. Two light waterings a week will usually sustain life until fall and winter rains come to the rescue. Again the use of a soil penetrant will be helpful in assuring that moisure gets down to where it will sustain life rather than evaporate.

What about trees? How do you care for them? Fortunately large shrubs and trees can carry on a better and longer fight than can smaller, weaker plants. They have the ability to go down to where moisture is. Never-the-less, it would be desirable to build a well or trench three to four inches deep out two feet from the trunk, so as to keep the water away from the trunk, and mulch with one-and one-half inches of humus material to hold the moisture.

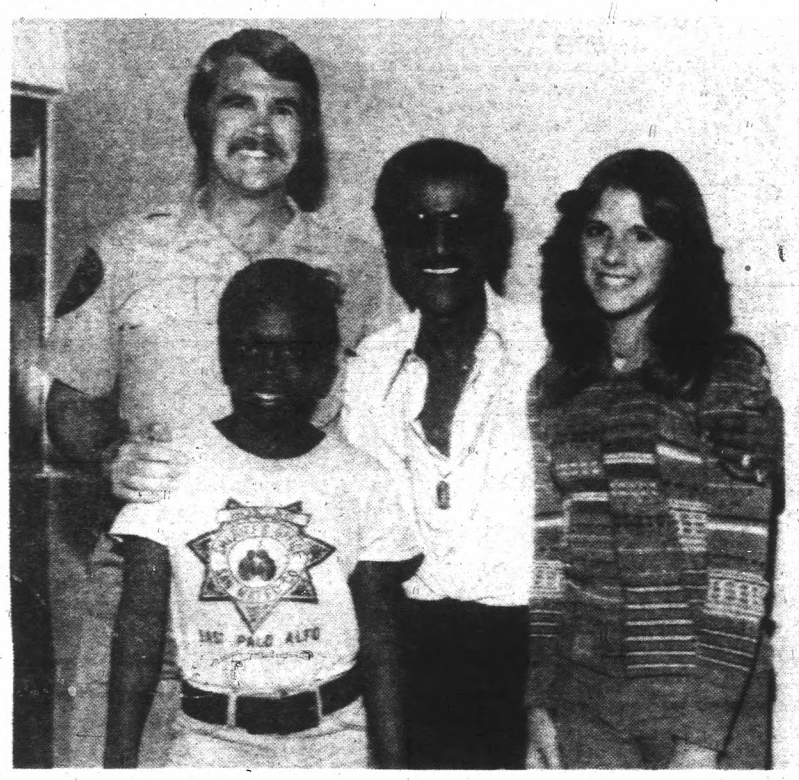
For bedding plants and vegetables, you can use the same procedures as with shrubs and trees. Lightly water three times each week for the first month and follow this with deep watering once a week. It is important to fertilize every four weeks, unless you are using a slow release fertilizer with a preparation that has been formulated for California soils.

Tub & Container Plants

Tub and container plantings are often wasteful of moisture. Use potting soil or planting mix as required, leaving at least one-and-one-half inches at the top. Then mulch the surface area with redwood soil conditioner or peat moss that has been thoroughly moistened. Water when necessary, usually two to three times a week depending on the exposure, the size of the plant and the temperature of the container's surroundings. Be certain to not overwater because this will result in unnecessary run-off or leadkage at the bottom. A saucer under the container will collect surplus water that can be used on other plants in the yard or garden. Or, containers may be placed so surplus water will drain to garden plants.

Drip irrigation systems work well. Controlled sprinkling that does not waste water and drip systems that control the direction of moisture exactly to the needed spots are ideal. Several types are available from your local master nurseryman. The San Mateo County Rose Society has installed one of these in its Memorial Rose Garden at the San Mateo Garden Center, 605 Parkside Way, San Mateo. If this one doesn't seem to suit your needs, check with your nurseryman for one more suited to you.

Don't waste the waste water — use it! For general garden use, dish, washing machine, sink and bath water may be used providing that excessive amounts of soap, bleaches and cleaners have not been added. Normal amounts of soap are not harmful, in fact, in most cases they are helpful to the soil. However, waste water is not recommended for vegetable gardens.



DEPUTIES SPONSOR SAMMY DAVIS JR.

Property Tax Freeze Petitions Underway

More than 425,000 persons from throughout California have signed a "property tax freeze initiative" said Kenneth Knopf, 72, of Hillsborough, San Mateo County coordinator for the measure.

Sponsors need 500,000 legal signatures before Aug. 21 in order to place the measure on the November ballot, Knopf added.

The initiative seeks to set property tax assessments at the 1975-76 level, but would allow a 2 per cent annual increase in residential assessments (due to inflation), and that only if needed.

The San Francisco Conservatory of Music's preparatory department will hold auditions and interviews for prospective students in all instruments who wish to attend its fall semester classes. Auditions and interviews will be held from Aug. 30 through Sept. 8, at the Conservatory, 1201 Ortega St.
